Hello, I am Young Jin Lee, and I am writing to register my objection to the construction project planned next to my residence.

I have a medical condition (depression and panic disorder) that can be significantly impacted by the loud noise generated during construction.

To substantiate my concerns, I have attached various documents from a medical professional.

For the past three years, I have been working from home due to health reasons, particularly since the onset of COVID-19. Consequently, any construction
